Dear parents,

This week is Power for Good Week at Sarratt. Power for Good Week helps our school to shine a spotlight on bullying and encourage all children, teachers and parents to take action against bullying throughout the year.

It is organised by the Anti-Bullying Alliance and they have set the following key aims:

- To support children and young people to use their Power for Good – by understanding the ways in which they are powerful and encouraging individual and collective action to stop bullying and create the best world possible.
- To help parents and carers to use their Power for Good – through supporting children with issues relating to bullying and working together with schools to stop bullying.
- To encourage all teachers and school support staff to use their Power for Good – by valuing the difference they can make in a child's life, and taking individual and collective action to prevent bullying and create safe environments where children can thrive.

Throughout this week children will be participating in assemblies and lessons to give them the opportunity to understand some of the effects of bullying, understand what bullying is and how they can report it.

Children will also be encouraged to celebrate diversity and understand that it doesn't matter what colour hair you have; what trainers you are wearing; how you speak; how you walk; how you talk – we are all different in some way and that's what makes us amazing.

To get involved please read the top tips from the anti-bullying alliance and talk to your child about bullying and Power for Good week. For more information, please visit the school's website or access the anti-bullying alliance website where they have an online tool to support parents to understand bullying and offer advice.

Yours sincerely,

Miss N Sales
Deputy Head Teacher
